

Coosen, on Wednesday next, our Counsell we will hold
At Winsor, so informe the Lords:

But come your selfe with speed to vs againe,
For more is to be said, and to be done,
Then out of anger can be vttered.

West. I will my Liege.

Exeunt.

Enter Prince of Wales, and sir Iohn Falstaffe.

Fal. Now Hall, what time of day is it lad?

Prince. Thou art so fat-witted with drinking of old Sacke, and vnbuttoning thee after supper, & sleeping vpon Benches after noone, that thou hast forgotten to demand that truly, which thou wouldest truly know. What a deuill hast thou to doe with the time of the day? Vnlesse houres were cups of Sacke, and minuts Capons, & Clocks the tongues of Bauds, and Dialls the signes of Leaping houses, and the blessed Sun himselfe a faire hot Wench in flame colored Taffata; I see no reason why thou shouldest bee superfluous to demand the time of the day.

Fal. Indeed you come neere me now Hall, for we that take Purles, goe by the Moone and seuen starres, and not by Phoebus, he, that wandring Knight so faire: and I prethee sweete wagge, when thou art King, as God saue thy Grace; Maiesty I should say, for Grace thou wilt haue none.

Prince. What none?

Fal. Noby my troth, not so much as will serue to be prologue to an Egge and Butter.

Prince. Well, how then? come roundly, roundly.

Fal. Marry then, sweet wag, when thou art King, let not vs that are Squires of the nights body, be called Theeues of the dayes beauty: let vs be Dianas Forresters, Gentlemen of the shade, minions of the Moone; and let men say, we be men of good gouernment, being gouerned as the sea is, by our noble and chaste Mistresse the Moone; vnder whose countenance we steale.

Prince. Thou sayest well, and it holdes well too, for the fortune of vs that are the Moones men, doth ebbe, and flow like the Sea, being gouerned as the Sea is by the Moone; as for proofe

proofe. Now a purse of gold most resolutely snatcht day night, and most dissolutely spent on Tuesday got with swearing lay by, and spent with crying br in as low an ebbe as the foote of the Ladder, and b as high a flow as the ridge of the Gallows.

Fal. By the Lord thou sayest true lad: and is n stelle of the Tauerne a most sweet wench?

Prince. As the hony of Hibla, my old lad of the
is not a Buffe Ierkin a most sweet robe of durane

Fal. How now, how now mad wagge, what i and thy quiddities? What a plague haue I to do Ierkin?

Prince. Why, what a poxe haue I to doe with n of the Tauerne?

Fal. Well, thou hast cal'd her to a reckoning and oft.

Prince. Did I euer call for thee to pay thy par

Fal. No, Ile giue thee thy due, thou hast payd

Prin. Yea and else where, so far as my coyne wo and where it would not, I haue vsde my credit.

Fal. Yea, and so vsde it, that were it not heere ap thou art Heire apparant. But I prethee sweet wag be Gallows standing in England, when thou art K lution thus subd as it is with the rusty curb of ol tick the Law: do not thou whe thou art a king ha

Prince. No, thou shalt.

Fal. Shall I? O rare! by the Lord Ile be a bra

Prin. Thou iudget false already. I meane the the hanging of the Theeues, and so become a rare

Fal. Well Hall, well, and in some sort it ium humor, as well as waiting in the Court, I can tel

Prince. For obtaining of futes?

Fal. Yea, for obtaining of futes, whereof th hath no leane Wardrop, Zblood I am as melanch Cat, or a lugd-Bear.

Prince. Or an old Lion, or a Louers Lute.

Fal. Yea, or the Drone of a Lincolnesbire Bagp
